

What Caused the Surge in AI-Based Tokens in the Last 24 Hours? AI-based tokens are bullish, outpacing Bitcoin and Ethereum over the past 24 hours. Decentralized AI network SingularityNET was up 24% in the last 24 hours. While Fetch.AI was trading at $0.42 up 27%, and Artificial Liquid Intelligence at $0.04 up 30%. The AI token surge comes after Alphabet Inc's Google. Said it has invested nearly $400 million in artificial intelligence startup Anthropic AI, which is testing a rival to OpenAI's ChatGPT. Google and Anthropic have entered into a new partnership following Microsoft Corp.'s high-profile $10 billion investment in OpenAI. This follows Microsoft's $1 billion investment in AI startups in 2019 and an additional round in 2021.
