

Cryptocurrency trading has exploded in popularity in recent years as it gains more mainstream recognition. The inherently volatile nature of cryptocurrencies creates unique trading opportunities for clients.

Many of our partners have requested better conditions for crypto trading with Exness, including narrower and more stable spreads, as well as increased leverage. We always value the input of our partners and so will be implementing the following changes to ensure the best possible conditions for both you and our clients.

Leverage increase on all crypto

From 26 April 2021, trading leverage on all crypto CFDs will be increased to 1:200 (equivalent to reducing the initial and maintenance margin requirement to 0.5%). New leverage improvements will be applicable to all accounts.

Exness Broker Review