

Fed Raises Rates by 0.75% to Curb Inflation.

The Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 0.75 percentage points on Wednesday, emphasizing that further rate hikes are well suited to control inflation. The Federal Open Market Committee increased its benchmark rate to a range of 2.25% to 2.5% from 1.5% to 1.75% previously. The Federal Reserve's goal appears to be maximum employment and 2% inflation over the long run. In the weeks leading up to the decision, many expected interest rates to rise more than the current figure; however, Fed members believe that a 0.75% rate hike is appropriate. Bitcoin Surges to $22k as Fed Raises Rates by 75 BPS Crypto prices soared after the Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 0.75% to curb high inflation.
