

Bitcoin Will Hit $250,000, Says David Gokhshtein

Crypto entrepreneur and enthusiast , David Gokhshtein, took to Twitter to share his thoughts on the future of Bitcoin prices. Gokhshtein does not believe that Bitcoin will reach staggering $1,000,000 level in the future. He tweeted that he had seen many articles saying that Bitcoin will hit $1 million in a few years. He disagrees with such an overly optimistic view, saying a price of $250,000 per coin would suit him. David also believes that the next cryptocurrency Bull Run will bring some new millionaires into the world. He emphasized that these will be those who believe in the crypto space and the recently created protocols. This certainly includes those who have bought many new coins, many of which will sink without a trace. Curiously, this is not the first time that Gokhshtein has taken a stand against the expected crypto price spike. Earlier this year, he tweeted that he thinks Shiba Inu reach $0.001.
