16 March 2015, London. FxPro announces the launch of FxPro MetaTrader5. Due to go live on Monday March 16th, the platform from MetaQuotes will allow traders to take advantage of FxPro's superior trading conditions and fair trading practices on yet another leading trading platform. Perfect for traders who prefer market execution but still want to trade on a MetaQuotes platform, FxPro MT5 also features a number of updates to its predecessor, including: more timeframes, drawing tools, buy and sell stop limit orders, tick chart trading and full market depth. Algorithmic traders are just as amply catered for as on MT4 with an integrated EA development environment. FxPro CEO Charalambos Psimolophitis had the following to say:

“The launch of FxPro MT5 has already generated a great deal of interest among traders and our support team have been inundated with queries in the run up to the launch. We are excited about this addition to our fleet of professional trading platforms and will continue to bring our traders the very best in FX trading.”
