

ORBEX WINS THE ' BEST EDUCATION PROVIDER 2016'

AWARD - Limassol, June 1, 2016- Orbex, a globally recognized leader in online forex trading, is delighted to announce that the company has yet added another award to its expanding collection of international awards. Orbex has received the 'Best Education Provider 2016' award from FXDailyInfo, an authoritative online analytical portal, for its leadership in trading education. Award winners were determined by the results of the open voting that took place on March-April 2016 on FXDailyInfo website. The voting outcomes highlighted the demand for high-quality trading education and reliable resources for market research. Orbex is proud to revolutionize the approach to the way forex trading is taught. The company aims to make its rich learning resources widely available through Orbex educational programs and to maximize the trading potential of its clients. The company has designed a blended learning model, merging profound scientific basis and real-life trading practices, which was implemented through various webinars, seminars, tutorials, and other complementing educational materials. Over 900 traders worldwide have already participated in Orbex programs, and as the forex education demands continuous development, the company is expecting more than 1000 students to join the educational projects this year. About Orbex Orbex is a global award-winning online forex broker, fully licensed and regulated, specializing in the provision of access to the world's biggest and most liquid financial markets.
