

Forex Brokers News - Important update regarding increased margin rates SolForex: As it is official that UK will exit EU from the referendum result released today, we will maintain our increased margin rates during this weekend. We will review these margin rates after market open on Monday, 27th June. A notification email regarding margin rate update will be sent in the near future. Please ensure you have sufficient fund on your account to cover the increased margin requirements. Source: SolForex Broker (Review and Forex Rebates Up to 85%)
